Farnborough Noise Group is submitting a formal complaint against Farnborough Airport for operating its business not in accordance with its licence.

Farnborough Airport Ltd has a licence to operate business flights. It was the revenue generated by business flights that was used to justify the harm caused by the airport's operations (noise, emissions, pollution, impact of property values, harm to National Parks/AONB and to public amenity) when it was given its operating licence in 2003.

The airport has operated leisure flights for some time that it does not have a licence for. On 24th December 2023, half the departing flights were to ski resorts in the Alpes. We have spoken to some of the individuals on these flights and they were not travelling for business purposes. Today, 27th December, there are 29 departures listed (there will be more departures than this as not all flights are listed). It is extremely unlikely that high net worth individuals will be doing business between Christmas and New Year. 13 of today's flights are to skiing locations in the Alpes.
